Congratulations on a successful legislative session. From DMVA's perspective, we accomplished our objectives. No increased personnel and we held the line on our budget. Most importantly two of your legislative priorities passed this year.

We could have a press availability in the conference room if they gavel out on the earlier side, but if it's late tonight and you have an early morning flight you might not want to do that. Last year I believe you did an end-of-session press conference the following day. Please advise and we stand ready to make it happen.

Subject: Racism on the Radio

I'm forwarding you an email I received from Nancy Barnes, assistant to Senator Al Kookesh, as part of a mass e-mailing.

The chain started with Michelle Davis, an Anchorage woman, who was outraged by DJ banter on KFBX 100.5, the Fox -- that was a dig at Alaska Native women.

I think it's something you should be aware of.

Dear ADN;

I am writing to tell you about an extraordinarily insulting comment that was said on Fox Radio, 100.5 this morning. As I was driving to work, I stopped channel surfing long enough to listen to some light banter between the morning hosts, Woody and Wilcox. They were testing callers to see what true crime incident actually happened in Florida. The talk turned to the weather and real Alaskans. Then one DJ asked this question, on the air, "Have you made love to the Yukon River and peed in a Native woman?" That is one of the ugliest things I have ever heard.

The DJ was taking that old, insulting line about someone only being a real Alaskan if they'd peed in the Yukon River, made love to a Native woman, killed a bear etc, etc. When I grew up, the phrases used to describe Native women in that chestnut were as bad as the N word. They used klootch, squaw, and so on. This DJ managed to take what was already degrading and insulting and make it infinitely worse.

I have complained to the Station Manager, and also filed with the FCC. To me, this was hate speech, and the public should have an opportunity speak against it. There is so much violence against Native women that goes unpunished. Let's try an experiment. I'd like you to say "Have you made love to the Yukon River and peed in a Native woman." Let the true ugliness brought up by those words be in your mind for a minute. Then, consider if someone said that about your sister, mother, wife or friend. Please, don't tolerate this and don't let it go by without being held up to the light.

Regards,

Michelle Davis

Anchorage

I'll spare you the full chain of subsequent e-mails. But here's an excerpt from one of them. Estelle Thompson Hale, who's from the Bristol Bay region, writes:

"This blatant, deliberate and unvarnished type of hatred against Native people has to stop. It's not just these particular DJ's either. This type of discrimination and racial hate perpetuation happens on other radio stations as well. If you ever listen to Dan Fagan, who has got his own show on AM 750 from 2-5pm, M-F, or "Don Megga" on 101.3 KGOT, you know what I'm talking about. The degree of discrimination varies, but it is there nonetheless. The remarks tend to be about Natives being drunk, being lazy, or other misconceptions or generalizations about Native people."

The Obama candidacy has triggered a national dialogue on race -- that's having an impact here on the Alaska Native community.

The "racial" issue is on people's minds - as you were quick to pick up on -- at the Tom Stewart memorial… this sense, that as a state, we want to take the moral high ground - to show respect by incorporating Native culture in a redesign of the state seal.

You and Todd are in the unique position to take leadership here. And seem to be doing so, by asking Alaskans to aspire to more, to be more inclusive.

And while we're on the topic of inclusiveness….

I've been emailing Julie Kitka at AFN, and she was very positive about your ANCSA CEO meeting. She said "inclusion" is so important - and that so often, Native leaders are not "included," so your gesture meant a lot. Julie was very happy about the hospitality you and Todd extended to the CEO's.

Just one more quick note. I did leave a message with the FOX station's program director, known as "Crash," requesting more information about what was actually said. I'm hoping it's not true – that there's some misunderstanding.

I have not heard back, but Representative Mary Nelson's office did hear from "Crash," who apologized for the banter.

I hope this email gives you a feel for the general climate, when it comes to race issues in Alaska. No doubt about it. They're heating up.

Thanks,

Rhonda

A perplexing thing about all this is that (and I'm not laying blame, just noting the irony here) it was not my idea, I did not compile addresses, nor compose (or even see the email until yesterday), yet I've had to answer to it repeatedly over the past couple of days without anyone noting that someone had to have orchestated, initiated and accomplished the email send. I know the buck stops with me, but that's a significant "miss" in all this, that no one stood up and offered to set Wesley straight by letting him know it was their idea and their doing and we're unapologetic because whomever did this (Mike?) didn't do anything wrong. I sure would have felt more confident about the coverage of this if someone had merely stood up and claimed ownership.

Well, actually, he did ask us last night who wrote it and who was responsible for it and we did say that we did -- he just didn't report that. Among other things he didn't report. Joe Balash was just talking to me in my office and he told me that Wesley hangs out with and is good buddies with Miles Baker, a Stedman staffer.
There are a lot of ironies here. The irony that we have never done this before -- it's the first time we tried it and we get blasted for it when previous administrations put things like this out day after day after day. (Looking at the dates on Murkowski's "Inside Track" alerts -- he literally put them out day after day -- not weekly, not monthly.)
Another irony is that we're stuck having to deal with an unprofessional, ignorant reporter whose idea of political reportage is going to your political enemies and giving them a huge megaphone to hurl whatever false accusation or complaint or lie they want and he doesn't bother to get the other side of the story. I say "stuck having to deal with him" because he's with the Anchorage Daily News. But I'll tell you one thing we're not stuck with -- we don't have to give him the kind of access he's had to you. We have to talk to him, of course, but we don't have to give him these exclusive one-on-ones with you, that's for sure. I've only been on the job for a week -- which he reminded me last night, by the way -- but I'll tell you what. All I've seen this guy do since I've been here is write biased, one-sided, unfair and negative stories about you. I'm used to working with mean, nasty, ugly, unpleasant journalists before on Capitol Hill (esp. the New York Times), but at least I could respect them professionally. At least they were good journalists. This guy, sorry, I can't say that about him. He's on a witch hunt and it's like, "don't confuse me with the facts - I'm busy here."

Governor-

Andrea Gusty would like to know if you are interested in joining her for a live shot at 5 o'clock tomorrow. There would only be time for two questions. Please let me know.

I think if Rhonda and I put our heads together this week, we can bounce it around the rest of this group and pull something classy off by the end of the week (in cooperation with Rep Nelson's office) especially if it is the Governor's priority. What do you guys say? tj

Rhonda,

Rep Nelson is talking about the Fox Radio that you mentioned last Wednesday.

Unbelievable how far these folks push the envelope. Fagan is included right in there.
